

My family is relatively large. There are six members in my family. my parents, three brothers and me. No, at this moment, only two of us my youngest brother and me are living with parents and one of us has gone to Lahore to complete his graduation and third number brother has gone to china for MMBS. Before the higher education all of us grew up in the same house where our parents live. My father had been living in Saudi Arabia for 6 year and they have come before 4 months ago permanently. And now he is running a Factory of aluminum. It's interesting that my mother also a business woman, she invests in property and I think she has inherited abilities (these are inherited abilities). My parents really grew up their offspring well way. I belong to a middle-class family.
